

FC Corporate Training

At a glance

- Enables learning by doing
- Designed for today's working patterns
- Training from the experts
- Saves internal time and resources
- Maintained content
- Easy-to-use portal
- Show investment in your people
- Aligns with core competencies

FromCounsel Training. The best-in-class legal training resource.

What is FromCounsel Training?

FC Training is a subscription service providing access to a library of maintained e-learning courses via a feature-rich and easy-to-use platform.

Our e-learning modules provide problem-focussed training. By incorporating engaging visuals, audio and interactive elements, FC Training caters for all types of learners with the emphasis being on practical application and engagement, so users 'learn by doing'.

The FC Training platform includes easy-to-use search and filtering tools. Coupled with clearly outlined learning objectives, the platform allows for easy identification of relevant training and efficient recording of competency requirements. In addition, users and team leaders have immediate access to helpful usage data and metrics.

FC Training blends the collective expertise of experienced lawyers and top-ranked barristers at the forefront of their fields. With modules written by leading barristers at Erskine Chambers, such as distributions by Andrew Thornton KC, and directors' duties and conflicts by Ben Shaw KC and Nigel Dougherty, FC Training provides practitioners with an unrivalled, first-class online training solution.

What does FromCounsel Training cover?

FC Training is launching with Corporate E-Learning and will expand to other practice areas.

The sessions cover black-letter law and transaction subjects and are targeted at a range of knowledge levels from introductory to the more complex, with greater detail and a more technical focus. The courses are designed to provide key foundational legal knowledge, ensuring practitioners have a solid grasp of the law and practice required to confidently deliver common transactions. More advanced sessions allow users to further build on that knowledge to approach more challenging areas.

For further details and to arrange a demo, please contact your FromCounsel contact or use the email below.

Why you should subscribe to FromCounsel Training

Enables learning by doing

Built with test elements focusing on the application of learning rather than the power of recall.

Designed for today's working patterns

Learning that works in remote and hybrid environments but avoids the usual downside of lack of engagement with online training. Pause and restart means training can be done in bite-sized or longer blocks as preferred.

Training from the experts

Training is written by the market-leading FC team which, provides quality consistency and enables leaders to be confident in the knowledge and skills the training delivers.

Save internal time and resources

By outsourcing the training covered by FC, you can free your internal staff for other activities and make the most of your in-person training opportunities.

Maintained content

FC maintain and update the training content, which reduces the burden of internal updating and ensures your team are up to date.

Easy-to-use portal

FC supports the administration and management of your legal training programme and provides dashboards to monitor course status and learner progress.

Show investment in your people

Investing in high-quality, easy-to-use training, that is focused on the end user and practical implementation, shows that you care about your staff and their career progression, which is a key tool in recruitment and retention.

Aligns with core competencies

By providing descriptions and objectives that align with core competencies, it is simple for users to demonstrate professional development and easily meet their SRA requirements.

For further details and to arrange a demo, please contact your FromCounsel contact or use the email below.